

AyA Kitchens – New Kitchen Installations & Design

Whether renovating your home for re-sale or simply to love your home again, a new kitchen is right up there in the top 10 list of residential ‘must-haves’.

If you are going to spend design dollars, spend them where people want them. Studies show we now do most of our living in the kitchen, not surprising considering the trend towards open concept design. Today’s kitchens are so much more than the traditional cooking and preparing spaces that we knew in the past. They are the social center of our homes and are increasingly becoming personal expressions of our lifestyles. The weekend chef, the working couple, the single person, we all want the same thing: customization, personalization, and of course, pizzazz!
